WESTERN NORTH DAKOTA TOUR

Western North Dakota provides a real taste of the Great American West with Native Americans, frontier and fur trade, national parks and historic sites, as well as a look into how the state of North Dakota developed.

There are many additional activities in every area. Groups can participate in kayaking, horseback riding, hiking, biking, swimming, golfing and more. Please check the North Dakota travel guide for these additional activities.

Day 1 — Williston Area to Minot

Morning — Williston Area
Fort Union Trading Post National Historic Site — The stately fort near the confluence of the Missouri and Yellowstone rivers dominated the fur trade on the Upper Missouri River between 1829 and 1867. Fur traders and Native Americans co-existed peacefully before the Indian Wars. Hugh Glass of “The Revenant” was a hunter here.

Missouri-Yellowstone Confluence Interpretive Center — Museum at the confluence of the two great rivers tells of the area’s importance during settlement era.

Fort Buford State Historic Site — A military post established at the confluence of the Yellowstone and Missouri rivers in 1866. It was a supply depot and the site of Chief Sitting Bull’s surrender in 1881. Nez Perce Chief Joseph was imprisoned here.

Fairview Bridge and Cartwright Tunnel — Built in the early 1900s, the bridge was made for both rail and vehicle traffic. Both now closed to train and vehicle traffic, but both are open for exploration by foot.

Afternoon/Evening — New Town, Parshall and Minot
Earthlodge Village — The Three Affiliated Tribes’ Living Earthlodge Village on the shore of Lake Sakakawea includes native gardens and interpreters to help with self-guided tours.
Three Tribes Museum — Displays of artifacts relating to Mandan, Hidatsa and Arikara tribal history. Also traditional Native American arts, crafts and books.

Four Bears Bridge — The longest bridge in North Dakota, spanning nearly a mile of Lake Sakakawea, honors 19 tribal chiefs of the Mandan, Hidatsa and Arikara tribes.

Crow Flies High State Recreation Area — This scenic overlook just west of New Town provides views of Four Bears Bridge and Lake Sakakawea. During periods of low water, glimpses can be seen of the town of Sanish, now covered by Lake Sakakawea.

Paul Broste Rock Museum — A private collector’s rock exhibit features rocks from all over the world in a building made of natural granite quarried from the area.

Scandinavian Heritage Park — A tribute to Scandinavian and American heritage features typical Norwegian house, Norwegian stabbur, Danish Windmill and large Dala Horse (national symbol of Sweden).

Roosevelt Zoo — More than 200 mammals, birds and reptiles, giraffes, zebras, wolves, camels, bison, snow leopards and a white Bengal tiger are on display.

Day 2 — Minot to Bismarck/Mandan

Morning — Minot and Lake Sakakawea

Dakota Territory Air Museum — Displays showcase the rich and varied story of region’s aviation history. Home to the Texas Flying Legends Museum Aircraft and military and civilian aircraft from 1903 through the present.

Lake Sakakawea And Garrison Dam — Largest man-made lake within one state, the lake is 609 square miles behind Garrison Dam and named in honor of the young Native American woman who accompanied Lewis and Clark. The mile-long earthen dam provides flood control and generates electricity. Tours of the powerhouse are conducted daily.

Afternoon — Stanton and Washburn

Knife River Indian Villages National Historic Site — The site has the ruins of an ancient village last occupied in 1845 by the Hidatsa and Mandan. A state-of-the-art museum dedicated to preserving the culture of the Plains Indians is on site, as is a reconstructed earthlodge containing artifacts from the Plains Indian culture and more than 60 ground depressions. This is where Lewis and Clark met Sakakawea in 1804.

Lewis And Clark Interpretive Center — This interpretive site along the route Lewis and Clark traveled has exhibits and artifacts from every tribe the explorers encountered and showcases the culture of the Mandan Indians and the winter of 1804-1805. The Bergquist Gallery features a rare set of the artworks of Swiss artist Karl Bodmer.
Fort Mandan — The reconstructed site of Fort Mandan, winter home of Lewis and Clark in 1804-1805, on the banks of the Missouri River. Daily interpretative tours are given.

Evening — Bismarck/Mandan

Lewis And Clark Riverboat — See the Missouri River on a cruise aboard the 100-foot paddle-wheeler that features twin decks and a 70-foot cabin. Regular, dinner and sunset cruises depart in the afternoon.

Day 3 — Bismarck/ Mandan

Morning

Fort Abraham Lincoln State Park — This 977-acre park along the Missouri River south of Mandan has a 300-year history dating back to time a when On-A-Slant was home to Mandan Indians. The site, with a number of on-site attractions, was a military garrison in the mid- to late-1800s and the final home of Lt. Col. George Custer, whose house can be toured today. Earthlodges in what was once a thriving village are open for tours. It was from this fort that Custer and the 7th Cavalry rode to the Little Bighorn. The Fort McKeen Blockhouses overlook the cavalry post at the river.
